DAVID LAWRENCE

The Gazette's Staff Addition, Head of Washington Bureau Whose Telegrams Are Appearing Daily.

The Janesville Gazette has secured the services of a Washington correspondent, David Lawrence, probably the best known writer on political, international and economic affairs in the national capital today. Mr. Lawrence's dispatches are appearing daily in the Gazette.

This gives the Janesville Gazette a Washington service, equal to that of many of the largest cities in the United States and provides our readers with a daily article on the "inside situation" at Washington that they can rely upon as accurate and authoritative.

Mr. Lawrence began newspaper work in 1903 on the Buffalo Express, working as a reporter until 1908, when he entered Princeton university. During his four years at Princeton he was correspondent of the Associated Press.

During his first two years at Princeton, Grover Cleveland was a source of important news, and his death of Cleveland in the summer of 1908. He gave this to the Associated Press, which was entitled "Princeton he was correspondent of the Associated Press."

GIRLS WILL STAGE MID-WINTER FAIR AT HIGH SCHOOL

A midwinter fair with all the trimmings of a real Mardi Gras will be staged at high school Saturday, March 20 under the auspices of the Girls' Athletic association. Miss Pauline Callahan, physical culture director, announced today. The affair will be a benefit for the Near East Relief.

The tentative plan for the bazaar includes a dance which will be held in the gym both afternoon and evening, a popular orchestra to furnish the music. Booths for candy, "hot dogs," ice cream, flowers, and other accessories of a country fair will be presided over by students in costume. There will be a room apart from the booths in which tea will be served at all hours.

One of the feature booths will contain a cutter who for a small fee will cut a silhouette of any one. Committees have been appointed as follows: Beatrice Smiley, general chairman assisted by Dorothy Oestreich; Miriam Decker, chairman of the program, assisted by Margaret Cooper, Margaret Bailey and Helen Yates. These students will make arrangements for various amusements, acts, Rosemary O'Brien, chairman of publicity.

The boys have assured their support in that they will erect booths and assist in other ways. More has been done this year to encourage student organization than ever before and Miss Callahan said to day the students are anxious for citizens to patronize their first big undertaking.

Gazette's Prizes for Bird Houses

It does not make any difference whether you have ever built a bird house or not. It is possible for you to win one of the prizes offered by the Gazette.

Plans for bird houses are simple. It would be well to read the article in Monday's Gazette, written by James Frankland, Janesville on this subject. It will help.

You would not make the same kind of a bird house for a wren as you would a robin. It is hoped that every house around which there are trees will have a home for the birds this spring. They will come back next year and years after and make the permanent residence there. Help the birds and you will be helping save many gardens and aid the farmer in his battle against destructive bugs and worms.

Here are the prizes offered: Twenty dollars in cash. Ten dollars for the city and ten dollars for contestants outside of the city. First Prize $5 Second Prize 3 Third Prize 2 All bird houses must be in on March 13. They will be placed on exhibition and as soon as the judges can go over, the prizes will be awarded. Here is a chance for every boy and girl.

WHAT WILL JANESVILLE ANSWER?

Janesville is able tonight to give the first answer to the challenge made to her citizens by its largest industry.

There is to be a meeting of the stockholders and subscribers to the new hotel project. It should be attended by every person in the city who has the slightest desire to see Janesville keep pace with events.

It is no place for the man, either in business or retired, who does not care and who is satisfied with things as they are. He should remain at home. The fact that he is not at the meeting will be taken for granted, therefore, that he has no interest in the city and has no care about the future.

With or without a great labor-using plant here, which would and does now demand more hotel room, Janesville needs a modern fireproof hotel. It needs one to care for the normal business of the day. A hotel is a quasi-public institution. It should be the center of the business and semi-social life.

Tonight's meeting will add at least a chapter of continued indifference or "get there" to the serial story of the new hotel.

THE POVERTY OF THE TELEPHONE COMPANIES.

Counsel for the telephone companies represented at the meeting with the aldermen on Monday evening, stated that the company would have to increase rates to meet the cost of laying conduits. This is a favorite method with all public service corporations. Mr. Richardson stated that the general public had an idea that the public utilities always had a lot of money. Not so; he had just been told that the Bell people had been obliged to borrow fifty million dollars at 7 1/2 percent. All of which seemed to deeply impress the council members.

Many a dream of the night passes with the tragedy of morning. So with the figures of the counsel. One gathered that the telephone company was skimping along, making last winter's coat do for this and cutting down on the children's Sunday school money. But the morning papers of Tuesday carried a report of the profits of the American Telephone and Telephone company showing a profit of $60,000,000 net in 1919. Dividends of $35,000,000 were paid to stockholders and $15,000,000 in interest charges. During the year $12,000,000 was added to the surplus. The complete report is printed elsewhere in the Gazette.

We hate to call the attention of Messrs. Shields and Richardson to these facts, but the interest of truth, veracity and the need for information by the people seem to demand it. It would appear that the Bell company at least could lay several conduits and not miss the money out of the pot of dividends.

Also the board of aldermen and the eminent counsel for the electric company may have overlooked the fact that the public service utilities, privately owned, are making whatever money they receive out of the property loaned to them by the people of the city who are the actual owners of the streets and alleys.

IN WHICH THE ATTENTION OF THE CITY COUNCIL IS ASKED.

A man with three children was down town on Sunday evening. He and the little folks were just walking about before the picture show opened. And then he was compelled to hunt for blocks for a place to take one of the children for its comfort. Now that the public service corporations have been saved a few thousand dollars by retention of the poles and the full duty of the council has been done to them, would it not be well to turn to the people and do a little something for the folks in Janesville, and also for the visitors from outside who, big and little, are in the same predicament as the father with the little children.

We need several public comfort stations. The law is specific: "Every city and incorporated village shall provide and maintain a sufficient number of public comfort stations for both sexes."

That does not say "May"—it does say "Shall" provide them. They are not provided. When will they be? Will they be provided at all? Uncle John Sherman, when secretary of the treasury, was asked by nervous bankers how he could resume specie payments. He said the "way to resume is to resume." And we resumed. The way to have public comfort stations is to have them.

WILL IT BE AN ISSUE?

The feeling grows that the peace treaty will not be in the campaign in spite of the apparent uncompromising attitude of Mr. Hitchcock's forces in the senate and the president's stubborn position. The fact that the president has given word he will not be a candidate again, the added fact that his son-in-law and friend, McAdoo, is generally credited with opposition to letting the treaty go into the campaign and that Hoover, another friend of the president, is against the treaty as an issue, give promise that the democrats may come to the Lodge position at last if only for the preservation of the party. Fourteen democrats have broken from

THE CALL OF THE FLAG.

When the war broke out, the Old Flag said, "Come along with me where the fields are red," And the young men turned at the first alarm, From the city desk and the rural farm, And offered their lives at the battle call, For they held their country first of all.

It was war back then, it was cannon fire, And the rattle of guns and the tangled wire, And the new-made graves. But the young hearts knew That the Flag would live if they were true, And they pledged their lives that it should not fail, For they held their country first of all.

Now the world's at peace, and the Old Flag flies To the breeze once more under happy skies, And it calls to us all: "There is work to do, I need you now to be strong and true, In the tasks ahead there's no battle thrill, But I need the strength of my people still."

"You need not suffer nor bleed nor die, In the days of peace, to hold me high; Just keep the faith, though on land or sea, And heed no voice that would slander me; And teach this thing to your children small: They must love their country first of all."

NEW JERSEY TRUE TO PRECEDENT.

New Jersey is true to precedent. In 1863 the legislature adopted a resolution condemning Abraham Lincoln and the government for emancipating the slaves. In 1920 it adopted a measure permitting the manufacture and sale of 3 1/2 percent beer. The governor signed it.

This is another step in the battle of alcohol to nullify the constitutional amendment. This law as well as the Mulberger bill under the decision of Judge Geiger now made effective, will not be in force until the war is declared over. This stipulation has been a necessity on account of decisions of the supreme court upholding the Volstead act.

All these things show that the enemies of the constitutional amendment are not asleep, but are battling from every angle to make it ineffective.

Nero fiddled; Rome burned; nations quarrel over strips of land here and there and the Turk mercilessly massacres Armenians and Syrians. Europe grabs territory and looks to the United States to furnish the human sympathy and protection. No League of Nations can take the element of greed out of the quarrels of nations which have been going on since the beginning of civilization in Europe and long before that when Asia was the field of the world wars.

President Wilson's announcement that he would not be a candidate for the presidency comes rather late when everybody realized that it was a physical impossibility. He talked with his son-in-law, former Secretary McAdoo, about it, and we may expect a formal announcement of his entry into the contest. But the public is also naively told that Mrs. Wilson is for Attorney General Palmer. He is the lucky man.

A New York hotel porter has leased a fine hotel at a rental of $17,500 a year. The more we read about these men who work in the New York hotels and restaurants the more our tender sympathy goes out to the rich who have had to tend to menial jobs like the president of a railroad or a bank.

If the organization can secure a hall large enough we suggest the formation of a society to be made up of ex-members of Pres. Wilson's cabinet.

The saloonkeeper who used to be such a power in politics did a poor figure when he dealt out pop and pink drinks without a kick.

Smoke of Kings

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN, Director

Janesville Daily Gazette Information Bureau, Washington, D. C.

Havana, Cuba, March 3.—Real Habana cigars made in Cuba of the famous Vuelta Abajo tobacco process to become more and more a luxury which only the wealthy can enjoy. The demand for them is always increasing, and the price is always rising, but the supply cannot increase much, for there is only one place in the world where tobacco is used in these cigars is grown. That is the famous Vuelta Abajo district, which is just a small spot on the island of Cuba.

There are other tobacco-growing districts on the island, but they can no more produce the Habana tobacco than can the Connecticut valley. Most of these inferior Cuban tobacco lands are now being devoted to sugar, because sugar is bringing such high prices and is so much less trouble to raise than tobacco. Only the Vuelta Abajo lands go on producing tobacco, and they will continue to do so as long as the sons of men continue to crave that strangely soothing and yet stimulating career which resides in the smoke of the best cigars.

Tobacco Widely Distributed. There probably is not and never has been any product of one place so widely distributed as is the tobacco grown in the Vuelta Abajo district of Cuba. The fragrant leaves which spring from the tobacco plant are literally scattered to the ends of the earth. It is an impressive thing to learn through the shipping records of one of the great cigar makers here, and see the packing cases consigned to every place in the world where there are civilized men and money. Paris, London, New York, Algiers, Melbourne and Buenos Aires, all draw their share of the sweet Habana leaf direct from the island. The cigars packed in these wooden cases which are most ingeniously sealed with steel wires.

Cigars Good as Currency. For shipping money, cigars are just like shipping money. They are as good as currency anywhere in the world, and kept under proper conditions they are as enduring as stocks of Habana cigars are often mentioned in wills and sometimes pass through the hands of several generations. Hence thieves are always after them, and some cigars are always stolen in transit, usually by means of a plank from a packing case extricating a few hundred cigars, worth perhaps almost as many dollars, and then replacing the plank.

In this same factory you see the smoke of the mighty of all the world in process of being made. Here in one factory are rolled the kind of cigars which Kaiser Wilhelm planned his great coup in Belgium, and the ones which soothe the royal nerves of the King of Wales. Both of these are cigars of modest size and price, compared to the ones which were smoked by J. P. Morgan, the elder, and J. P. Morgan, the younger, one in a box, sells for $1 apiece here in Havana, and for about $3 in New York.

The Cuban cigar-maker who rolls these cigars makes about $7 a day, and he can be seen rolling them any time of the day in the factory where he can afford to smoke this, perhaps the best cigar in the world. Another man who smokes them pretends to be a doctor, and his favorite doctor. A Cuban cigar-maker cannot be prevented from presenting his doctor with samples of his skill. No doubt the doctor is a physician to this particular artist is highly prized. They say that J. P. Morgan came down here once and watched this man rolling cigars. He rolled for several minutes observing the process with interest, and then walked away without having said anything. What was his mind doing? He was without having put his hand into his pocket. This gave the cigar-maker a poor opinion of American millionaires and general and J. P. Morgan, in particular. For several days, they say, he went about muttering: "Think of it! He has millions and he did not give me a cent!" Largest Cigar Foot Long. The Morgan cigar is by no means the largest made. The largest is the largest made. The largest is nearly twice as much as Morgan's smoke. Very few of these giant cigars can be produced, because very few leaves grow large enough to make the wrappers for them. The foreman of the factory watches every bale of tobacco that is opened for leaves to use in making this kind of cigar. Nearly all of the finished product is consigned to a single dealer in Egypt. Who smokes these enormous cigars? A wealthy and powerful man smokes one at a sitting, or lights one off and on for a week, or questions which no one can answer. The cigars go regularly to Egypt at $1,000 a thousand, and they must retail for at least $5 apiece, but that is all the manufacturers know about them.

Supplying as it does the smokes of many of the most important men in the world, this factory has a heavy responsibility. It is very seldom that it has a few years ago.

Didn't Take the Rubber. In the making of some of the larger cigars, a rubber band is used to hold the filler together before the wrapper is applied, the band being deftly slipped off as the wrapper goes on. At least that is what is supposed to happen. But in one instance, the factory received a letter in Latin German, written by a high official of the Austrian government, stating that he had been smoking for many years a certain brand of cigar put out by this factory, and that he had been bitten, irritated, horrified and incidentally nauseated, by getting a puff of smoke which plainly originated in the Vuelta Abajo tobacco, but in rotten rubber! The letter explained that the high official had been prostrated, his dinner dissipated, a rubber band delayed, affairs of state bogged. What did it mean? He demanded an explanation. The factory sent him the explanation together with an apology and a cigar to take the place of the one which had contained the rubber band.

Price Rises Constantly. The constant rise of the Habana cigars is due to the growing cost of tobacco and the labor which goes into making them. The wages of cigar-makers have risen about 50 percent in the past two years, and the planters are getting from 50 to 100 percent more for their leaf than they did before the war. The manufacturers claim that they are not making money, but that the cost of living makes another jump. This bewildering process, from which the whole world is suffering, is seen vividly in Cuba because of the small size of the place.

The Habana tobacco factories are for the most part hospitable to visitors. The cigars which are made here come to Habana now go through a factory, and see every phase of the work, from the room where the great bales of leaf tobacco are opened to the one where the finished cigars are turned out. One of the factories here even presented a visitor with a handful of cigars, which is a thing which cigar factories are famous for not doing.

BELL PHONE CO. PROFITS SIXTY MILLION DOLLARS IN 1919

New York.—The net earnings of the American Telephone and Telegraph company for 1919 were $60,000,000, according to the annual report, made public on Monday. Dividends amounted to $35,000,000, leaving a surplus of $25,000,000. Of the balance, $4,000,000 was added to the surplus and $4,000,000 to the reserve for contingencies. The number of shareholders on Dec. 31, 1919, was 120,400, an increase of 8,000 for the year. The total income of the Bell system during 1919 was $79,650,186, from which $29,000,000 was paid in dividends and $27,000,000 in interest, leaving more than $12,000,000 surplus. The capital stock, bonds and notes payable of the Bell telephone system in the hands of the public at the end of the year amounted to $1,060,000,000. The net assets devoted to standing securities total more than $1,448,500,000.

Only 111,000 number of telephones stationed in the United States constituting the Bell system was 11,795,747, an increase of 729,738 during the year. There were 203,880 employees in the associated Bell companies who are operating 24,162,999 miles of wire.

EAT! The largest made. The largest is nearly twice as much as Morgan's smoke. Very few of these giant cigars can be produced, because very few leaves grow large enough to make the wrappers for them. The foreman of the factory watches every bale of tobacco that is opened for leaves to use in making this kind of cigar. Nearly all of the finished product is consigned to a single dealer in Egypt. Who smokes these enormous cigars? A wealthy and powerful man smokes one at a sitting, or lights one off and on for a week, or questions which no one can answer. The cigars go regularly to Egypt at $1,000 a thousand, and they must retail for at least $5 apiece, but that is all the manufacturers know about them.

Who remembers when it was no disgrace to be poor? Too many speakers still the banquet.

ASK US

The Gazette maintains an information bureau at Washington, D. C., under the direction of Frederic J. Haskin. Questions will be answered on any subject. Those desiring information may write a letter to the Janesville Daily Gazette, Information Bureau, Washington, D. C., and enclose a stamp. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q. How many of President Wilson's original cabinet members still remain in the cabinet? H. P. A.

A. Only four of the original members are still in office. They are: Joseph Daniels, secretary of the navy; William B. Wilson, secretary of labor; Albert S. Burleson, postmaster general; and David P. Houston, secretary of the treasury. Mr. Houston's original appointment in the cabinet was that of secretary of agriculture, which he recently resigned to become head of the Treasury department.

Q. Would a falling off of foreign trade necessarily be injurious to the average American? D. H. A.

A. If foreign trade were so quickly terminated as to close factories and throw people out of work, the average American would suffer. It would be merely curtailed as to leave more materials for the American market it would probably result in a reduction of living standards and consequent benefit to the consumer.

Q. How long have quarantine methods been used to check the spread of disease? H. P. A.

A. The Lombards were the first people to use effective quarantine methods against plague and infectious diseases. A mention of a quarantine is made in Lombardy and Milan as early as 1374. Prior to that time Christian communities required themselves to the violation of the plague, regarding it as a divine punishment.

Q. What is a good definition of "friendship"? H. P. A.

A. Here are some definitions of "a friend" which a London newspaper came into possession of. The result of offering a prize for the best definition: "The first person who comes in when the whole world has gone out." "The whole world of calamity." "One truer to me than I am to myself." "The essence of pure devotion." "Friendship, one soul in two bodies." "The Triple Alliance of the three great powers, Love, Sympathy, and Help."

Q. A says there is such a thing as a mental in a game of poker. What is that? Who is right? B. B.

A. The official rules of card games issued by the United States Playing Card company says that if a player discovers, before looking at his hand, that he has too many or too few cards, he may demand a new deal. If too few cards, he may request the dealer to fill out his hand from the pack; or, if too many, may request the dealer to draw the superfluous card or cards from his hand. Such cards must not be exposed, but placed on the bottom of the pack. If the player has seen his hand, and has too many or too few cards, he cannot play on that deal. If more than one player has been dealt the wrong number, it is a miscaldeal.

Q. How many chickens can be successfully raised on an acre of land? L. E. S.

A. The poultry division of the Department of Agriculture says that it would be impracticable to attempt to raise more than from 150 to 200 chickens on a single acre of land.

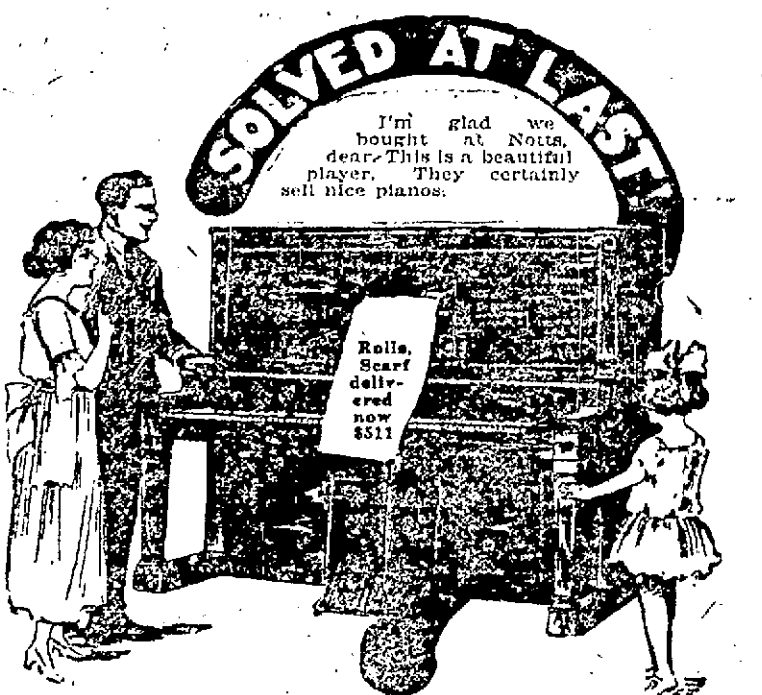

Q. Lake Titicaca, which lies on the boundary between Peru and Bolivia, is the largest lake in South America. It is situated about 13,000 feet above sea level. The greatest depth of this lake is about 700 feet.

RED FLAG SCORED BY SEN. WILCOX

400 Elks Hear Thrilling Talk on Americanism vs. Bolshevism.

Bolshevism, I. W. Wilson, and every form of radicalism that can see only the red flag and utterly ignores the Americanism that is imbedded in the Stars and Stripes were thrashed by Sen. Roy P. Wilcox, Eau Claire, in an address delivered at the local lodge of Elks. Speaking particularly to 130 candidates for initiation, he impressed upon them that the foundation of the organization is Americanism. The Elks have no room for any person who has one drop of antagonism to the ideals of America in him, said the senator. It is among the assembled group of prospects, there was one with even a tendency to bolshevism, he warned in his finest oratory, the thing for him to do was to consider himself not eligible for membership in the Elks and depart for it he were discovered later, the principles of the order would see that he was forced out anyway.

Is Cause of Unrest. Along this same line, L. J. Felner, Fond du Lac, district deputy of the grand lodge, soundly thrashed the spirit of bolshevism that is causing unrest in the country. "It is time," he said, "when all Elks should band together and their ideals of Americanism, the foundation of the order, see to it that the country is rid of all those elements that have not learned that there is only one God and that is Old Glory. We must forget selfishness and untruth in government and ourselves and make America loved above all nations."

Local Situation Described. Otto Rosenfeld, Grand Rapids, past state president of the Elks, brought bolshevism nearer home when he declared in his inspection of the city yesterday that he had seen the spirit of the sit-down on Sanson building operations. It is his belief that radical elements coming here from other places have done much to cause the situation.

"It is up to you fellows of the Janesville lodge," he said, "to see that those fellows are driven from town."

Speaking of the statements of the Sanson officials in regard to cooperation of the people to stop the sit-down of the plant's growth he said: "The Elks plant's growth he said: 'If Grand Rapids had such a tremendous industry, there wouldn't be anything that Grand Rapids would not do to help it along. We have only a little town of 8,000 up there, but we would give the plant every cooperation.'"

More than 400 members and members-to-be of the lodge, however, and addresses which were made prior to and following the initiation. The meeting was declared the best that the local club has ever held. It was marked by a vaudeville performance by two acts brought here from Chicago especially for the occasion. One of Chief Green's famous lunches followed.

Banquet at Grand. Preceding the meeting in the lodge rooms, a banquet was held at the Grand hotel where Dr. J. L. Scheller, exalted ruler, presided, and Mayor Thomas E. Welsh introduced the speakers. Short talks were made by visiting officers.

Those from out of town were El. H. Dodd, state president, who acted as exalted ruler at the initiation; Sen. Leroy Wilcox, Eau Claire; J. L. Felner, Fond du Lac, district deputy grand lodge, loyal knight at initiation; Otto Rosenfeld, Grand Rapids, past state president; Hon. E. A. Huston, Fond du Lac, leading knight at initiation; F. L. McAleney, Fond du Lac, acting as lecturing knight; Henry Borne, Fond du Lac, occupying the station of inner guard; and Ross Mohr, Rockford, acting as esquire.

While 130 candidates were put through, 16 were absent because of delayed trains and other good reasons.

LET BIDS SOON FOR $50,000 CHURCH

Plans Approved for First Christian Edifice on South Main St.

Plans for the new $50,000 Christian church which will be erected at the corner of South Main and Third streets have been accepted by the building committee. Rev. H. T. Brown, pastor of the church, announced today.

Bids will be let in a short time and excavation will be started as soon as the weather permits, he said. The plans, drawn by F. E. Sadler, call for a structure 60 by 85 feet, over all, and will be used for the outside. An auditorium seating 300 and 600 when the Sunday school rooms are opened into it will be a feature of the new building. The church will be constructed so that a balcony may be built as the congregation grows.

An auditorium will also be placed in the basement in addition to a modern kitchen and dining room. Furnishings such as a pipe organ is estimated will cost nearly $10,000. The Church Extension board has promised to loan $25,000 toward building of the new church. In addition to a gift the sum of which has not been made known. Remainder of the money will be raised by subscription.

Mr. Brown is now occupying the house on the church property but he said today that this would be moved so that it would stand next to the new church.

The Christian church was organized in this city in April, 1912. Because of the hotel committee meeting being held at the City Hall tonight, the meeting of the American Legion has been changed to the armory. It will start at 8 o'clock.

NATIONAL C. OF C. IS BOOSTED HERE

For the purpose of interesting local manufacturers in joining the United States Chamber of Commerce, W. G. G. Newway, field secretary of the organization, spoke at the Rotary club luncheon this noon, giving a brief outline of the important work of this national organization has accomplished.

He said that five-sixths of the recommendations made by the United States Chamber of Commerce in connection with the rail bill became a part of the bill which congress passed. Another significant movement of the chamber was the inter-allied congress which was held this summer at Atlantic City, at which the great producers of America and foreign countries met and took action for more staple trading.

The local Chamber of Commerce as an organization belongs to the national association, but the work which is now in progress is for membership of individuals.

MIGHT TAKE SOME BRITISH ISLES

and so on about being annexed to dry land? Seriously speaking, there has been an annexation movement in some of these British islands for some time. They have wanted to be annexed to the United States for various reasons, mostly commercial. The Royal Legion will give a geographical proximity. But the advantages of prohibition have not yet taken hold of the British imagination. Perhaps the islands could be gotten ready for annexation only after some of the anti-saloon leagues had been able to sow the seed which was so effective inside the United States.

One of Finance Only

Mr. McAdoo, however, sees the question purely as to its bearing on financial relations between the British empire and the United States. Says Mr. McAdoo:
"It is highly desirable both on our own account and that of our allies that the settlement of our loans to our allies be rendered as quick and as easy as possible. Our chief debtor is, of course, Great Britain and this arises naturally out of the fact that Great Britain has liberally pledged her credit to sustain that of other allies. For one must not forget that certain islands in and near our shores, Jamaica, the Bahamas, Barbados, Guyana, British Honduras, and the Bermudas, off our South Atlantic coast, these British possessions so long held by a friendly maritime power do not jeopardize the security of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts of the United States. With the process of time, we have been realizing the economic power in the world and have developed the Panama canal and a navy and merchant marine which make these islands more than ever important to us. Might it not be possible to work out a plan by which England's debt to us could be reduced by the transfer of certain British possessions in the western hemisphere to the extent of their value?"

Britain is Land Poor

"The British empire at this moment controls one-sixth of the land area of the whole world, and, according to British economic experts, the surplus capital of the mother country would find no more profitable investment in the development of the agricultural and mineral resources of the great self-governing dominions and of India. I imagine that Great Britain would not object to such a disposition of these islands, especially as they would go to a friendly power. I see nothing in such a proposal to offend the just pride of a great people, whereas such a liquidation of a portion of the British debt would be a happy solution of a part of Great Britain's immediate financial problem."

Needs Them for Navy

If the league is dead and Europe goes back to the old order of things, then the British government must then in mind the excellent use which the British could make of these islands as a rendezvous for the British navy during the last war. Some valuable naval bases are scattered in the North and South Atlantic which Great Britain would be loath to give up. Yet if international disagreement is put into the league through the league of nations, Great Britain would have as little use for naval stations as she would for more battleships. And the tendency of the American naval men is reflected in the statements just made by Rear Admiral Hager and Commander in Chief of the general navy board to the effect that the United States has no use for naval disarmament.

News Notes From Movieland

—BY DAISY DEAN—

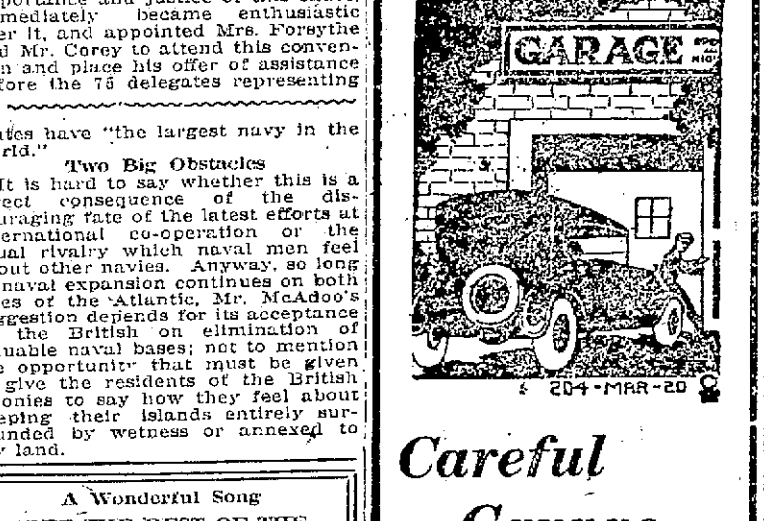

Lois Wilson, the pretty star who has been playing leads for Famous Players-Lasky for some little time, since signing her contract has been leading lady for every male star on the Lasky lot. This means that the fair Lois has been made love to by such a famous collection of stars as Bryant Washburn, Robert Warwick, Charles Ray and Wallace Reid. She has just been chosen to appear opposite Wallace Reid in his next picture. Her next appearance on the screen will be in "The City of Masks," which has just been completed and in which Robert Warwick is the star.

Miss Wilson is a good example of the southern beauty which our country boasts of. She was born in Birmingham, Ala., and began her screen career as a representative of Alabama in a beauty contest run by Universal Film company. After leaving Universal she joined Paralta and played with J. Warren Kerrigan in "A Man's Man," "Turn of a Card," and "His Robe of Honor."

FOX AIDS TEACHERS

A significant breakfast held Tuesday morning at the Hotel Cleveland by the National Educational association, flashed the S. O. S.—Save Our Schools—throughout the United States, that of increasing salaries. These self-sacrificing people have devoted their time and lives to the education of young America, and at a salary entirely inadequate to combat the increased cost of living. To further their ends, Mrs. Grace Stachan Forsythe, district superintendent of public schools in Brooklyn, N. Y., and a well-known journalist of international reputation, interested William Fox, the well-known motion picture magnate, in their cause. Mr. Fox, realizing the importance and justice of this cause, immediately became enthusiastic over it, and appointed Mrs. Forsythe and Mr. Corey to attend this conference and plan for the aid of assistance before the 75 delegates representing every state in the union, and take a vote from them on the matter. Mr. Fox's offer is: To devote about 150 feet of Fox News, a semi-weekly screen magazine of international circulation, each week to propaganda for better salaries. A vote being taken, a resolution was unanimously passed to accept this offer of the screen.

SCHOOLS PREPARE FOR MUSIC CONTEST

Victrols were installed yesterday in all public and parochial schools of the city in connection with the music memory contest which will be held in this city under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce beginning about April 15. Sixty compositions for the contest were selected by a committee made up of Mrs. E. L. Johnson, Mrs. Albert Schaller, Mrs. W. T. Sherer, and the Misses Agnes Weber, Grace Murphy, Louise Bennett and Florence Snyder. Local music dealers have loaned the machines and records to the schools and have also obtained sheet music of all compositions.

Records will be played every day for the next six weeks and arrangements are also being made to give concerts at the schools at which the selections will be played upon other instruments. As the selections are played the children will be taught the names of the composers. This work is all to be done in connection with the music memory contest of the schools and is being given for the purpose of stimulating the love of good music in Janesville school children. The prize of $25 is to be awarded each cash prize.

THE HIGH COST OF SKINCRESS—IX

The Sanitary Home

Some men are so obsessed with the idea of cleanliness that they have even shaving soap impregnated with antiseptics. Soap itself is antiseptic. There is a very good protection in using it. But we do love to paint the porcelain of an old superstition giving off a noxious odor injurious to health. This idea is to be corrected in a very interesting way. It is a sort of antiseptic motion that disease can be driven off by some magic substance. Of course, we know that unpleasant odors are caused by bacteria or dirt. But we do not expect this. Timmy, who still imagines she wards off disease by wearing camphor, tulle, or some other odoriferous garment, is a curious person. It is curious to see people can harbor the fancy of germs, which they believe exist in the air, and are then off by comparatively mild means.

Speaking of disease germs "lurking" here and there, it may be mentioned that disease germs never level of their own accord. They only where they are carried. They do not exist or flourish around in air, as some exploiters of "sanitary" flapdoodle would have folks believe. Disease germs are considered as capable of seeking victims through bedbugs or head lice—and every one knows that these visible parasites have to be carried to fresh fields, having no wings at all. Disease germs "lurk" with all the malice of a foxglove, waiting for the first opportunity to strike.

Soap and water and elbow grease are the most reliable sanitary agents for the protection of the home. Sprinkling, spraying, smearing, or exposing chemical disinfectants about the house, in the bathroom, or in the cellar, is of no advantage as compared with cleanliness. The popular faith in anything labeled "antiseptic" is too great for safety. Take an ordinary 1 to 5000 solution or 1 to 1000 solution of chloride of mercury (corrosive sublimate). If this solution is to destroy any germs the hands or materials must be immersed in it for ten minutes. A mere dip is quite innocuous to most germs.

There is no actual evidence that disinfectants offer any protection to health when applied to floors, walls or furniture. The only real purpose of the home's disinfectant solution can serve is for the destruction of disease germs in discharges from the body of the invalid and germs on articles soiled by such discharges. Soap and water, fresh air and sunlight will serve every other purpose in the sanitation of the home. For disinfecting discharges and articles soiled or contaminated by such discharges, perhaps the cheapest and most efficient disinfectant is that known as "Hygienic Laboratory Pine Oil Disinfectant" which any pharmacist or chemist can prepare after directions given in Report No. 304 of the U. S. Public Health Reports, obtainable free on application to the U. S. Public Health Service, Washington, D. C. (five cents to non-residents of the United States).

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
Husbands, Take Notice. I have recently been married and after our marriage I found that my husband snored awfully at night. It makes me feel so bad that I cry myself to sleep. Is there not something that I can do to prevent this condition? How can I go on loving him? (Mrs. St. Paul).

Gentle. I have heard of a specialist for the nose and throat specialist for a few treatments to tone up his atonic Schnitzel.

The Two Weeklings.
Two young men who are members of my class are victims of the pigsticker habit, and since the class has gone in for basketball these two have been in the hospital for a week. They both think the cure is to quit. I thought your monograph might help them. (Teacher).

ANSWER—The minor who finds it necessary to use tobacco is usually defective in one way or another, physically, mentally, or morally, to begin with. The tobacco adds to the defect, and it is impossible to get to sleep.

ANSWER—Basketball is a fine game for girls, but the time for basketball or other wholesome game or athletic work is in the day, and not in the evening.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 13 years old and go with a boy five years my senior. His sister tries to reveal our affection by perversion. What would you advise? I am engaged.

Do what is right and trust that the young man cares enough for you to believe in you. It would be unwise to carry tales about the sister. If you are above such petty things he will admire you all the more.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl 21 years old and I have a boy friend of 21. I think a great deal of him and have known him for four years. I always liked him better than any other boy I had. I had the remark that I was too independent. Is it best to be independent to win his love?

My only thoughts are of him and a home with some dear little children. I love children very much.

Be natural and do not study your actions to decide whether or not they are too independent. If the young man does not care for you, let him go. You are making a mistake in permitting your thoughts to dwell upon him so much; you can forget him if you will.

At the age of 21 you are not hopelessly in love.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a near 22 years old and think very much of a young man two years my senior. He is of excellent character and well liked.

Because of father's unreasonable objections I do not entertain him at home, and so we go elsewhere for entertainment. His mother's death in 1915 I have taken her place in our family of six and have had few good times.

I want a home wedding when I am married, but in case we two are married away from home, do you think our marriage would prove happy without father's blessing or would I give him up now before matters have reached a critical point?

Do not give up the man you love because your father is unreasonable. Your father's refusal to give his blessing should not interfere in the least with your happiness. It would be pleasant to have it, of course, but the love you and your husband have for each other is what will count.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: What do you think of a teacher resigning her school if she notices the school board about three weeks beforehand in order that they may have time to find a new teacher? She is dissatisfied with teaching and decides her goal.

SKIRT AND BLOUSE STAGE A COME-BACK

By ELOISE.

As more attention is paid to the skirt than to any other part of costume this season, which results in a tangle of designs and styles that bewilders the woman used to the straight and narrow path, she will find the average skirt exactly what she desires.

Skirts are tiered, they are flared, they are trimmed at the sides if not at front and back; they are braided, they are made in two sections of different materials, and all these styles are considered available for the street.

Whatever one wants in a fanciful skirt, that one may have today. It is this that makes the separate skirt a garment of distinction and desirability, and which suggests its combination with the variety of over-bouses as a substitute costume for the one-piece gown, which need not complain of indifferent treatment during the last five years.

For change there is another reason for the change in the fact that at the first touch of warm weather women like upper garments that can be changed and things that can be laundered. It is compulsory to wear the one-piece frock as it is, with its hind more or less fresh. It is of cloth, which it usually is, then the fabric over the shoulders and sleeves gives heaviness and warmth which is not pleasurable when the season changes.

At any rate the separate skirt and blouse is one of the most popular modes for wear in the south, now which means that it will be in high favor for summer later. This skirt shown here is a model which will make the summer girl long for the days of outdoor sports to begin. It is made on ample lines, but it is made of such glorious material, it seems almost too good for sports wear. The fabric is called sea spray and is a silky crepe material. It comes in white and all the usual shades of blue, pink, green and tan. The blouse worn with it in this instance is made of cream colored silk and it combines all of the newest blouse features. It has the short sleeves, the Jenny neck line and the basque-like front panel which extends to the hips and ties in a bow at the back. Cherry colored embroidery trims the neck and lower edge and forms a motif in the front. Cherry colored ribbon to match with pointed edges form straps over the shoulders.

Wm. J. Moxley's DIXIE MARGARINE.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

Over the kitchen fireplace in our house here is painted a German motto: "Der Mann ist nie ganz so schlecht und nie ganz so gut wie das Weib."

It has puzzled me ever since we came. Today when Mrs. Pardoe dropped in I asked if she could explain what it meant and why.

"Yes, my dear," she answered briskly, delighted with the chance to talk personalities. "Old man Meyers, who lived in this house when the Corners was a good-sized, bustling town, 'bout a century ago, painted it up there sort of in memory of his wife, though I should call it a pretty left-handed compliment under the circumstances."

He was so pious mean to poor Johanna (that was his wife) that they say she had to beg the butcher to put her name on the meat bill. Then when Meyers paid the butcher's bill, he gave the dollar to Johanna. That was the only way she could get her name on a coin.

"They went to Germany one summer to collect a fortune that somebody left old Adolf—just as if he hadn't enough, ain't it funny how they are, gits?—and they say he used to ride in first class compartments on the train while poor Johanna rode third class! Ain't that the limit?"

"Well, it was the limit for Johanna. It shamed her worse because it was in her own country, and all her friends and relations saw how low-down he treated her."

"And what do you snoop Johanna up and done? Why, she woke up! She did what the woman did. She turned. 'Only it was herself got the worst of it.'"

"She took a good look at herself in the glass and saw she wasn't hard on the eyes if only she had some decent clothes. Then one night she stooped to that which many a wife has done since—she snuck some real money out of her husband's trousers while he was sleeping. Only Johanna made off with it. She left a note saying simply, 'You sleep, but I have awakened. I'll go no more to America.'"

And Meyers never laid eyes on her his money again. There was rumors that Johanna went to some of those swell gambling places on the Riviera or whatever you call it and made out she was a widow, a countess or something and cut a big dash.

"Old Adolf came home alone and put that motto over the fireplace: 'The husband is neither so good nor so bad as his wife.' That's what it is, isn't it, Mrs. Salsbery?"

"Yes," I smiled. "Do you think it's true?"

"Lor' sakes, yes!" emphasized Agatha Pardoe. "When women do that sort of thing, they sure get somewhere. Men just muddle along, neither one thing nor the other. They take good women to go to the limit of badness, once she starts. And did you ever know anything human that could be as good as a bad woman reformed? Sufferin' cats—she'd sniff at the person!"

I laughed aloud, wiping my eyes, all unconsciously, on the bit of sewing in my lap.

"What's that you're workin' on?" cried Agatha Pardoe, alive with interest. "What—you don't mean it. Well, now, ain't that just too grand! And you're goin' to make every stitch of it clothes yourself? There! it takes good women to go to the limit of badness, once she starts. And did you ever know anything human that could be as good as a bad woman reformed? Sufferin' cats—she'd sniff at the person!"

Minister's Children Are Rescued From Burning Home

Fond du Lac.—A fire broke out in the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Zenk Campbell, while they were spending the evening at a neighbor's home. Their six little children, which they had left sleeping, were rescued by Frank Bump, a neighbor, who discovered the fire and carried them out while the roof was ablaze.

Minister's Children Are Rescued From Burning Home

WITH THE WOMEN OF TODAY

Mrs. Key Cammack, the newly elected assistant secretary of the New York Trust company, is the second woman in New York city to be honored with an appointment to a position of great executive responsibility in a metropolitan bank. Mrs. Cammack will develop the special service in which she is most interested, the assisting of clients in the preparation of their household budgets. She also advises the sons and daughters of the trust company's clients in the economical management of their allowances. Special committee rooms are set aside where clients, old and young, with accounts large or small, may have the advice of Mrs. Cammack in the charting of their personal budgets.

The New York Trust company is also co-operating with several schools which desire to have their pupils know the elements of banking by permitting Mrs. Cammack to talk with, not at, their classes.

general discussion and answering of questions follow the talks.

At this time, when the necessity of putting the nation upon a budget is occupying thoughtful minds, the New York Trust company has assigned its new woman officer to assist the individual to adopt the same sane course.

Although of a southern family, as the name Key indicates, Mrs. Cammack was born in New York. Her early childhood was spent in New Orleans. After her debut in Washington and her marriage she went to live in Rome, where she was presented at court and attended many official balls.

Upon her return to New York she was connected with the New York public library. Her interest in the problem of model tenements, however, influenced her to take up writing. At first she wrote various verses and stories for various periodicals and later had a book for children published.

When the war came Mrs. Cammack abandoned her writing, proved her qualifications for service in a Red Cross course and began associated with the art war relief, an organization of painters, sculptors and writers. She later became head of the surgical department. Then she decided that there was an opportunity for broader service in the employment bureau of the United States department of labor. Her connection with the bank has been but for a comparatively short time.

RURAL SCHOOL TEACHERS WILL BE SCARCER THAN EVER

Carter Alexander of the office of the state superintendent of education adds to his many contributions on the subject of teacher scarcity with a contribution in the current number of the Educational News Bulletin. He says of the dearth of rural teachers for the coming year:

"Returns from the county superintendents in Wisconsin show that they have had this year teaching under them 553 teachers who could not meet the minimum certificate requirements. Until September 1, last, when the new teachers began, these requirements were only two years of work above the grades including one year of professional training. In order to keep the schools running, these superintendents have had to ask for special one year licenses for this army of unqualified persons."

These teachers who cannot meet such low minimum requirements are sufficiently numerous to run all the schools under the county superintendents in the eight counties of Ashland, Door, Florence, Kenosha, Lincoln, Pepin, Racine and Vilas, one ninth of the counties in the state. That is, if all of these teachers who cannot meet the accepted minimum standards were segregated in these counties, the children in the schools under the county superintendents of eight counties would not have a single teacher who could be regarded as really qualified for the work."

Look More Serious For Next Year

The worst feature of the situation is that the shortage of trained teachers will be more serious next year. Out of returns from 66 counties, only 7 county superintendents expect to have enough teachers with regular certificates next fall. Only 3 others will have a smaller shortage than this year. Sixteen county superintendents think the shortage will be as large as it was this year and 33 others think it will be worse.

The teacher training institutions this year will turn out far fewer teachers than in former years. There simply cannot be enough competent teachers to go around. If parents in rural districts desire a fair chance for their children, they must be prepared to pay much higher salaries for rural teachers or else join forces with some other district that can secure a teacher with a regular certificate."

CITIZENS R. CRANE

Charles R. Crane has been offered the appointment as U. S. minister to Japan, named recently by President Wilson. He is a Chicago millionaire and world traveler.

Crane has been before the public eye politically before. He was appointed to the same post by President Taft in 1909, but was recalled while on his way to Peking. It is believed that his recall was at the suggestion of the Japanese officials, they resenting his appointment and the selection of his secretary, a man who had written material considered to be anti-Japanese.

Earlier in President Wilson's administration Crane was offered the post of ambassador to Russia, but refused it. Later he was asked to be a member of the mission headed by former Secretary Root which investigated the Russian situation.
